

Monitoring Upland Restoration

Monitoring the Effectiveness of Upland Restoration

Developed

published monitoring protocols for erosion and sediment control practices used in watershed restoration projects in California.

(University of California at Berkeley and California Department of Fish and Game.)